Portsmouth Opens Cornfield And IC Test Operations

Data General employees celebrated "Blue Ribbon Day At Portsmouth" on Friday, May 17, signifying the official start-up of Cornfield Assembly and Integrated Circuit (IC) Test. Cornfield is the implementation of automated production processes.

In his opening remarks, Portsmouth Plant Manager Rick Edson said that the start-up of these Manufacturing processes was "not only a Blue Ribbon Day for Portsmouth, but also a Blue Ribbon Day for all of Data General. These automated processes will enable our company to maintain continued leadership in an increasingly competitive world marketplace."

"It was you who made Cornfield Assembly and IC Test a reality," said Rick. "Your teamwork has been a key to our success. It brought these Manufacturing processes from the idea stage, into the design stage, and now, into production."

After a luncheon, employees viewed a slide show emphasizing the magnitude of their completed project and the teamwork and pride displayed throughout the facility. Ribbon-cutting and cake-cutting ceremonies also took place, after which employees toured the Cornfield Assembly and IC Test areas.

Other speakers at the event included: David Chapman, senior vice president of Manufacturing; Frank Silkman, senior vice president of Worldwide Field Engineering; Ken Jaeggi, vice president and chief Financial officer; Jim Williamson, vice president of US Manufacturing Operations; and Tracey Zellmann, director of Advanced Manufacturing Engineering and Technology.
